

Tulsa Methamphetamine Treatment Continuum

HEALTHY MINDS
POLICY INITIATIVE

A STRATEGIC CUTTING EDGE, RESEARCH BASED, COLLABORATIVE RESPONSE TO AN URGENT COMMUNITY CRISIS.

Tulsa could be a national leader in treating methamphetamine addiction through the cutting-edge, research-based and extensively collaborative nature of this model.

The Tulsa Methamphetamine Treatment Continuum is a strategic effort to address Tulsa's methamphetamine addiction crisis on a bigger scale than ever before, with more funding, enhanced treatment practices and stronger community partnerships. This is an urgent community crisis and we must take it seriously.

Methamphetamine has surpassed opioids in killing more Tulsans than any other illicit substance, and COVID-19 has worsened addiction in our community. But there is hope. Tulsa is well-equipped to address this crisis due to our extensive expertise in methamphetamine addiction, and our history of coming together to solve mental health challenges such as through the 10-year Tulsa Mental Health Plan.

THANK YOU TO OUR CONTINUUM PARTNERS & FUNDERS

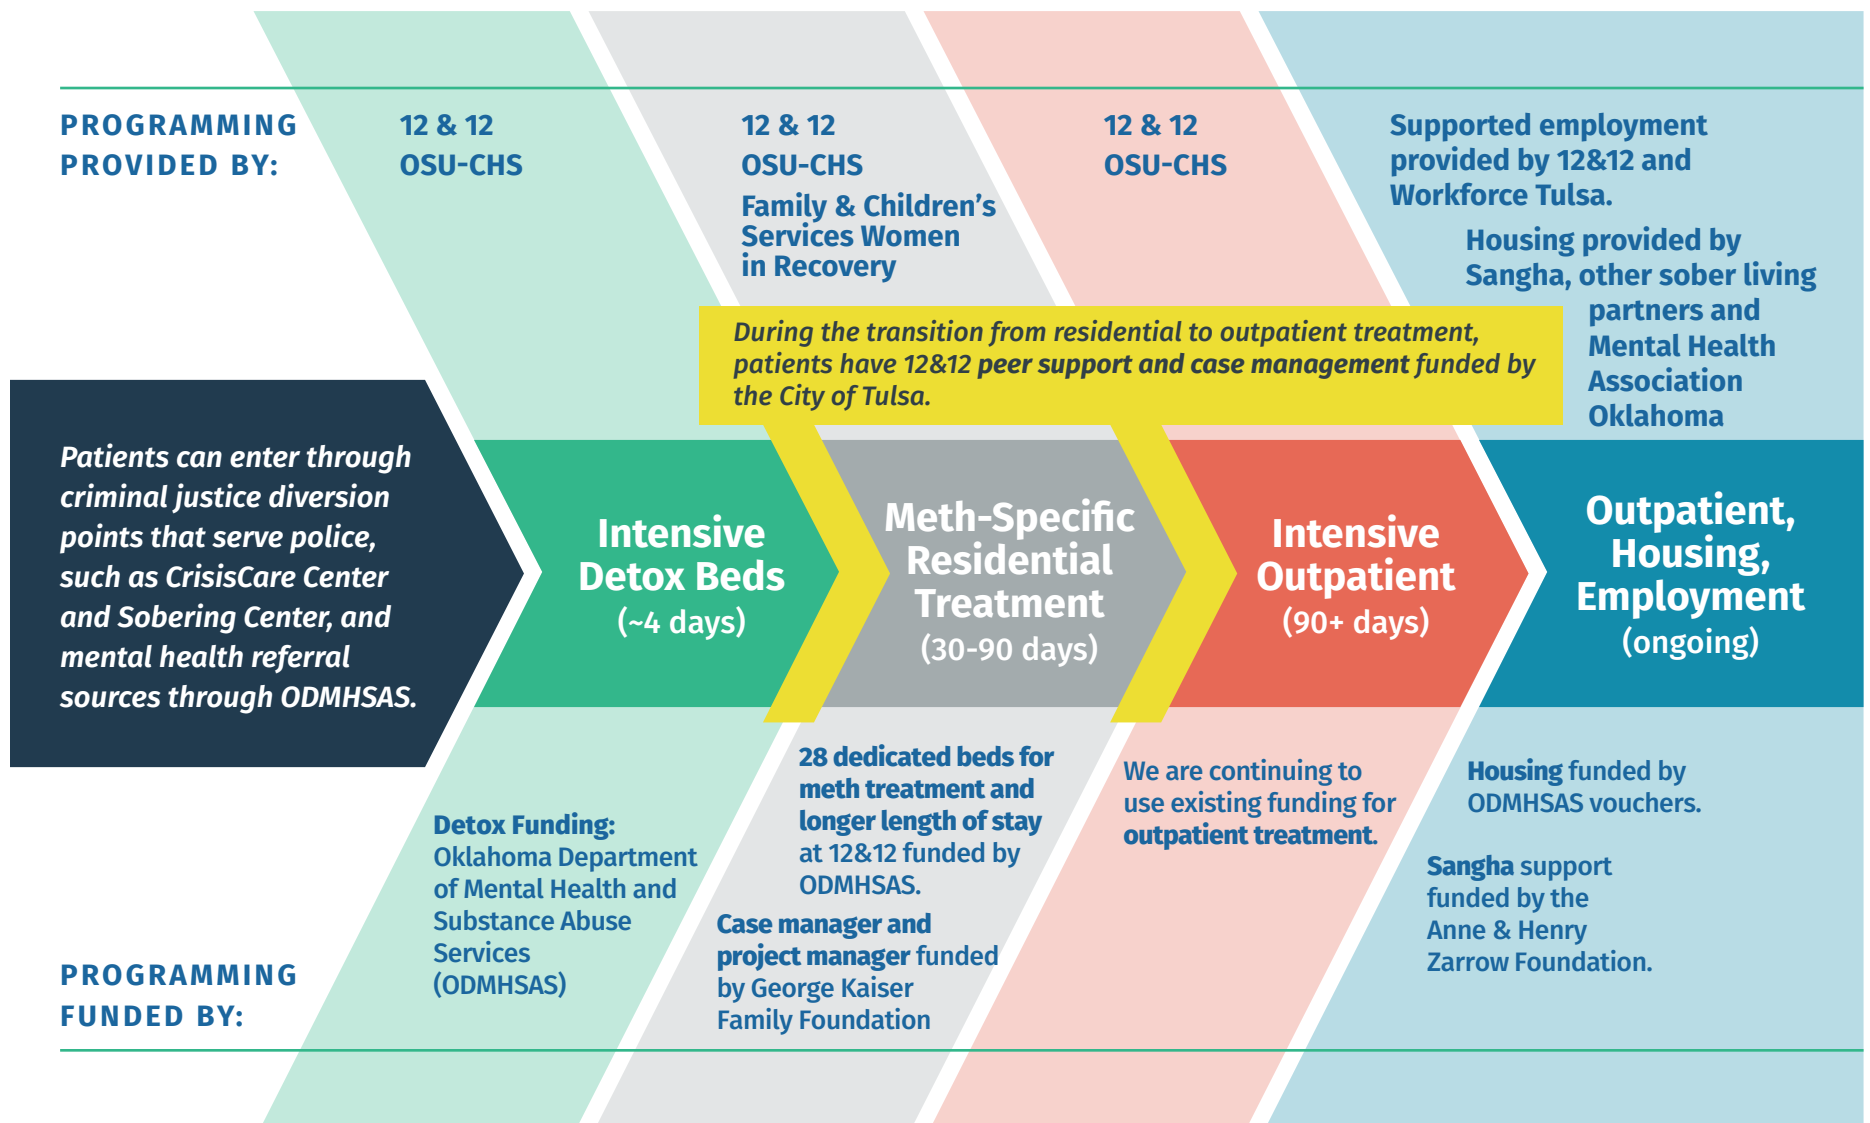

Learn more about each partner's role on the reverse.

Interested in becoming a service partner or funder?
Email zstoycoff@healthymindspolicy.org.

TULSA METHAMPHETAMINE TREATMENT CONTINUUM

What's New? Expanded programming and services

THROUGHOUT THE CONTINUUM:

Program Evaluation with OSU's National Center for Wellness and Recovery is funded by the City of Tulsa.

Facilitation Support is provided by Healthy Minds Policy Initiative, funded by the Anne & Henry Zarrow Foundation.

Consultation and expertise provided by City of Tulsa, Tulsa Police Department, Tulsa County Sheriff's Office and the Tulsa County District Attorney's Office